PACES PROPERTIES CONFIRMS NEW RESTAURANT CONCEPT FOR EAST ATLANTA VILLAGE

Former Ford Fry and Wrecking Bar Employees Venture Out on Their Own with New American Eatery

ATLANTA: Paces Properties is excited to welcome a fresh new restaurant concept to East Atlanta Village which will open in the former My Sister's Room space at the corner of Glenwood and Gresham. Featuring more than 2,000 square feet of restaurant space, this soon-to-be-named, neighborhood addition will feature a 27-foot bar in the dining room as well as 1,000 square feet of outdoor patio space located behind the restaurant.

With more than 40 years of combined restaurant experience, long-time industry veterans Peter Chvala (Partner/General Manager), Nolan Wynn (Partner/Executive Chef), Katie McDonald (Partner/Bar Manager), and Faielle Stocco (Partner/Bar Manager) decided to take that experience and open their own restaurant.

"One of the most exciting things about the project is its location in East Atlanta Village," said Chvala. "We have been long time patrons of the neighborhood and look forward to being a part of this growing community."

With a vision of keeping things simple and casual without sacrificing quality of service, this team of four is utilizing their wealth of experience and truly unique skills to bring something fresh and innovative to the area. Throughout the menu, you will find New American fare featuring hand-cut pasta, stemming from Chef Wynn's love for the craft. "Our main goal is to deliver thoughtful ingredients and service, but present them in a very comfortable and approachable way," added Wynn. "The idea is to bring something new to East Atlanta while staying true to its culture."

The bar will offer both classic and house cocktails as well as a curated collection of beer and wine reflecting both McDonald and Stocco's deep knowledge of the craft. "We're keeping the drinks stiff and cheeky," explained Stocco.

"The words that come to mind for our bar program are approachability and sophisticated fun! If you want a beer and a shot after work, we got you. You want a Classic cocktail, nice long dinner, and a sipping Amaro to finish, we still got you," shared McDonald. "It's important to us that anyone who walks through our door feels welcome and leaves full and happy!"

The team has secured design firms Decarlo Hawker Architecture and Design and Elizabeth Ingram Design to spearhead the look and feel of the space. The atmosphere and design will draw from the turn-of-the-century bungalows found throughout East Atlanta.

"We can't wait to have that corner open and serving with an incredible dining option," explained Merritt Lancaster, Principal of Paces Properties. "We're thrilled to have this team on board as they will be a wonderful addition to the village."

When completed, the restaurant will be open Tuesday through Saturday for dinner and Sunday for brunch. Late night snacks and beverages will also be available. More details to come.
